TO BLESS ✦ TO HEAL ✦ TO SERVE

September 2011

Greetings from the Bishop:

Greetings in the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ,

My dear brothers and sisters it's with great joy that I write this letter of introduction for the new Diocesan newsletter. It's the next step in our ability to stay connected to one another. It's important that we hear what the Lord is doing in our midst throughout the Diocese. These stories serve as a testimony and also an encouragement for all of us who are busy about the Lord's work. We are encouraging you to send us your stories, pictures, and general life of your parishes, we in turn will put that into the newsletter to share with the general diocese.

I have a new assistant, Tina Fisher, and you will want to direct all your parish information and pictures to this address:

TinaFisher1002@gmail.com. We will also try to highlight a parish a month in the newsletter, so Tina Fisher may be contacting you for information.

Lastly, my former assistant Marilyn Lindh, was forced to retire due to health concerns. She is recovering and on the mend, but please keep her in your thoughts and prayers. We could not have gotten to this juncture of in our life as a diocese without Marilyn's hard work and sacrifice. We love her, and she will be missed. We look forward to hearing from you.

Peace and all Good,

+Roger Ames

Regional Anglican 1000 Event at St. Luke's

Anglican1000 is an initiative of the Anglican Church in North America and her ministry partners to raise up Anglican congregations and communities of faith across North America to reach people with the transforming love of Jesus Christ.

During his investiture, Archbishop Bob Duncan made the astonishing, prophetic call for 1000 new works during his ministry. A few months later, a team of leaders gathered in Plano to dream about a cooperative movement to plant churches and answer this call. What began as an applause line during Archbishop Bob Duncan's installation sermon has become a strategic initiative chaired by the Rev. Canon David Roseberry with the vision to plant new works in the Anglican Way to reach North America with the Good News.

By the way, Anglican 1000 doesn't plant churches! Anglican 1000 arose as a response to this call in order to see new works planted in the Anglican Way here in North America. But, Anglican1000 will never plant a single church. Not one. Anglican 1000 is a movement of churches, leaders, rectors, bishops, dioceses, networks and others who are embracing the call to plant churches.

Anglican1000 exists to rapidly catalyze the planting of Anglican congregations and communities of faith. A team of bishops, clergy, and planters from all parts of the Anglican Church are working together to strategize, encourage, and resource this exciting work of God. Anglican1000 is here to honor the Lord while serving and equipping the planters that God is raising up. Be sure to check out the Resources section of the site for information about the different models of planting being explored, best practices, and further information for planters. Our On the Move blog will keep you up to date on what is happening around North America in the world of Anglican Church Planting.

Anglican 1000 is partnering with regional clergy & lay leaders to inspire, equip, & mobilize churches & leaders to plant new congregations reaching people with the saving love of Jesus Christ.

The Diocese of the Great Lakes is hosting an A1K Regional Event in Akron on April 27th & 28th! Which will be part of our annual diocesan synod. The keynote speaker will be Fr. William Beasley from Greenhouse Ministries based in Chacgo.

More information will soon follow!
